BECKER'S TRIAL
District Attorney Whitman
Wants An Early Date.

(By Times Special Wire.)

New York, April 15.—District Attorney Charles S. Whitman is determined to bring forward Police Lieutenant Charles Becker to trial, for a second time, at an early date, on the charge of having instigated the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, for the actual killing of which the four gunmen paid the death penalty on Monday morning.

Joseph A. Shay, who became Becker's attorney following his conviction, and who prepared a appeal upon which he gained a new trial, yesterday, notified the Becker family of his retirement from the case.

The District Attorney's office is investigating charges made in the confession of "Bugs" Moran (Crofel), a short time before he was put to death for his part in the murder of Rosenthal. The police department today was requested to bring "Dollar Bill" Moran to the city hall for a press conference. Langer, a personal friend of Rosenthal, was marked by the gunmen, according to unofficial reports, on the day preceding the killing of Rosenthal.

IT HAS ARRIVED.

The marquee in connection with the Harlem & Hippodrome Circus, to be held in the Y. M. C. A. Friday and Saturday nights, was yesterday, arrived in special cars yesterday. Quite a large crowd gathered to see the animals and the circus, which arrived from New York and seem to be in splendid health, showing signs of expert care. The baby elephant, of course, was the favorite with the old and young. The high horse was somewhat of a novelty, not usually being seen in the city. The crowd on the way to the Y. M. C. A. Building, showing more intelligence that could not be accounted for, he more inquisitive. The whole procession was full of interest, and those who saw the animals went away as good advertisers for the circus, on Friday and Saturday nights, in the large new gymnasium in the Boys' Building.

Chinese Lacquer

The beautiful old lacquer of China and Japan is almost a thing of the past. Cheap commercialism has substituted the art which excelled the lacquer which has neither artistic merit nor durability. Indeed, the wonderful art, which was one of the finest expressions of Japanese civilization, is hardly recognized now under the same name, is changed as it is character and is made of manufacture. Lacquer making is perhaps the subtlest, the most intricate of all processes. Its manufacture requires the skill of the artist, the patience of the monk, and the strength of the warrior. The lacquer is made from the bark of the lacquer tree, which is cut and then the juice is collected. The juice is then mixed with a variety of materials, and the mixture is then applied to the surface of the object to be lacquered. The mixture is then allowed to dry, and the surface is then polished and smoothed with the whetstone.

ANTIQUE WORK SHIMMER.

To tell the truth, the only way to tell the difference between a well-dressed man and an indifferently dressed one is not so much a matter of dollars as taste. You are assured of perfect taste in style and fabric when you Buy 20th Century Brand Clothes.

Instead of the sparkling gold, inferior metal powder were often used. And during the latter part of the eighteenth century the lacquer artist had become quite skillful, both in mechanical and artistic, and in obtaining suitable shades. This art enjoyed various phases throughout the century, sometimes reaching quite a high state of development, again showing the signs of a very crude workmanship, but always maintaining a high standard of quality. The lacquer artist was a man of great skill and patience, and he was able to produce a surface of lacquer that was as smooth as a mirror, and as durable as steel.
